Class History

September 1951 was one of the highlights in our lives as this was the time when we (as rather shy little seventh-graders) entered Charlton Junior High School.

Because our class consisted of fifty-six pupils, too large a number for one classroom, we were divided into two sections with Miss Lemire as our 7A advisor and Mrs. Healy as our 7B advisor.

After discovering that our first task was to elect class officers, we chose for 7A the following: president, Leonard Lucas; vice-president, Eleanor Casey; secretary, Susan Hill; and treasurer, Judith Freudenthal; while for 7B we selected these: president, Gail Hammond; vice-president, James Russell; secretary, Barbara Stockman; and treasurer, Edward Nedzweckas.

We were proud of our 7th grade honor group, namely, Judith Baylies, Claire Gaucher, Robert Stavers, Raymond Stevens, David Stevens, and Judith Tucker.

Unfortunately, we lost six members of our class--Ruby Burlingame, Ruth Burlingame, Susan Hill, Peter LaCerte, Edgar Langlois, and Shirley Merchant.

In September 1952, we entered the eighth grade with fifty pupils and with Mrs. Sarah Madaus as the director of 8A and Mrs. Margaret Healy as the 8B director.

Again we found ourselves with the privilege of electing class officers. The selections of 8A were--president, Eleanor Casey; vice-president, Henry Davidson; secretary, Beverly Barnes; and treasurer, Sandra Colby. The 8B leaders included Gail Hammond as president; James Russell, vice-president; Barbara Stockman, secretary; and Edward Nedzweckas, treasurer.

At the end of our eighth grade career we were able to boast a large honor roll, which included Beverly Barnes, Judith Baylies, Sandra Colby, Henry Davidson, Claire Gaucher, James Russell, Robert Stavers, Raymond Stevens, Judith Tucker, Lee Wakefield, and Barbara Zinowsky.

We were sorry to lose four members of our class this year, namely, Eleanor Brown, Judith Freudenthal, Evelyn Gosselin, Leonard Lucas. But, we were fortunate to gain one new pupil Robert Piehl.

In both the seventh and eighth grades, we participated enthusiastically in the Junior Red Cross Drives and the magazine contests.

In September 1953, our dream had come true, for we were at last in high school, starting our long four-year journey. Our Freshman class now consisting of forty-two students was united under the leadership of Mrs. Estelle Ziemiński, in Room 2.

At our first class meeting the following officers were chosen: president, James Russell; vice-president, Judith Baylies, secretary, Barbara Zinkowsky; and treasurer, Gail Hammond.

"Tony" Gillespie, Robert Sleeper, and "Charlie" Thompson became active in boys' sports; while Eleanor Casey, Joan Soucy and Judith Tucker represented us in girls' athletics.

Unfortunately, we lost two of our classmates--Judith Shedd and Joseph Mayes. We were happy, however, to welcome Stanley Lawrie, Allen Reiser, Robert Sleeper and Ann Marie Walker.

Among our activities for this year were a Freshman Hop, the Junior Red Cross Drive, and the magazine contest.

In September 1954, we started our tenth year in school, as Sophomores. We almost completely lost our former shyness, as we were caught up in the whirl of many high school activities.

Our class now consisted of forty-one pupils after gaining Patricia Arnold and Stanley Lawrie and losing Barbara Stockman and William Adams.

Under the direction of Mr. Paul Mitchell, we began our Sophomore year by choosing the following class officers: president, Raymond Stevens; vice-president, Phyllis Bombard; secretary, Eleanor Casey; and treasurer, Claire Gaucher.

Our honor roll students were Beverly Barnes, Judith Baylies, Claire Gaucher, Robert Sleeper, Robert Stavers, Raymond Stevens, Judith Tucker, and Barbara Zinkowsky.

"Tony" Gillespie, Robert Sleeper, "Charlie" Thompson, Eleanor Casey, Joan Soucy and Judith Tucker continued to be our athletes, while Pauline Gaudette and Nancy Lotti became active in drama.

Along with our Junior Red Cross Drive and our magazine contest, we also sponsored a Sophomore Hop, which was a great success.

We started our Junior year in September of 1955. We had now traveled half way through high school, with the most exciting part of our journey lying ahead. Our class consisted of forty-one pupils under the leadership of Mr. Paul Mitchell.

The following class officers were elected: president, Robert Sleeper; vice-president, Henry Davidson; secretary, Eleanor Casey; and treasurer, Phyllis Bombard.

"Tony" Gillespie, Donald Plante, Robert Sleeper, and "Charlie" Thompson were our star athletes. These participating in girls' sports were Eleanor Casey, Joan Soucy, and Judith Tucker. We were very happy to have Eleanor Casey chosen as a cheerleader for the third consecutive year.

We were proud to be able (at the end of Junior year) to be able to boast a very large honor roll which included Beverly Barnes, Judith Baylies, Nancy Lotti, Robert Sleeper, Raymond Stevens, David Stevens, Judith Tucker, Lee Wakefield, and Barbara Zinkowsky.

Much to our disappointment, we lost Patricia Arnold, Donald Cushing, Harriet Jensen, and Edward Nedzweckas.

We sold candy at the Senior play and at all our home basketball games to establish a prom fund.

We were very excited when we received our class rings which were different in shape from those of previous classes.

During our Junior year, we sponsored a record hop, in order to raise money for our Senior class trip to New York and Washington. But the highlight of our Junior year was, of course, our Junior Prom, which was directed by Mrs. Emma Hammond. Our Prom theme was "Springtime in the Alps". We enjoyed ourselves immensely, while dancing to the music of Russ Cole's orchestra.

In September of 1956, we suddenly came to the realization that this was to be our last year at Charlton High. We started our Senior year with Mr. Paul Mitchell as our class advisor and thirty-three pupils in our group, but this number was soon reduced as we lost Kenneth Barr, Arthur Bellerive and Ellen Snow. From the close of our Junior year, we had lost five other students, namely, Eleanor Casey, Gail Hammond, Stanley Lawrie, Natalie Peloquin, and Joan Soucy. We were fortunate, nevertheless, to be joined by Burton Griggs.

Those members of our class who were chosen to help lead us through our Senior year were Donald Plante as president; Henry Davidson, vice-president; Beverly Barnes, secretary; and Nancy Lotti, treasurer.

Our first financial project for our Washington trip consisted of a series of successful paper drives.

Our next money raising activity was the sale of Christmas Cards and Gifts. We were very pleased as we made a profit of over $800.00.

Next in line came our Senior play, The Night Of January Sixteenth, a three-act New York murder trial, which was coached by Mrs. Mabel Fiske.

Other activities included a dance and a very successful Senior supper, netting us a profit of over $400.00.

We were proud to have Judy Tucker chosen as our D. A. R. representative and Robert Sleeper as our Student Day Representative.

On Friday, February 15, our long anticipated trip to Washington D. C. actually began. We wish to thank our chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. William Ball, Mr. and Mrs. David Boudreau, and Mr. Paul Mitchell, our advisor, who helped to make this journey a success. Washington was all and more than we had dreamed it would be; and I'm sure everyone felt that he was well repaid for all the time and effort which he had devoted to money raising projects to make this trip possible.

Those chosen to be class day speakers were Beverly Barnes, Henry Davidson, Pauline Gaudette, Tony Gillespie and Ann Marie Walker.

And so our activities have come to an end, and we now bid farewell to our never-to-be-forgotten school days at Charlton High School. Here we pause to say, "We thank you", to all who helped in our journey through high school.

Beverly Barnes

Prophecy

On June 1977, exactly twenty years after my high school graduation, I, Henry Davidson, now president of General Electric, left my office in New York for a party given by my old classmate, Robert Piehl, to celebrate his appointment as U.S. Ambassador to Russia.

As I walked into Grand Central Station, I was greeted by three classmates, "Bob" Stavers, now Warden of Massachusetts State Prison; Jim Russell, a famous New York photographer; and Robert Burns, husband of Jean Cooper.

When we got on the train, we were greeted by two more classmates, Everett Pike and "Tony" Gillespie. Everett and "Tony" had just opened a large Hosiery Shoppe in New York City, financed by "Tony's" earnings from the Boston Celtics. They informed me that Donald Plante and Charles Thompson, now owners of S. L. Potato Chip Company, were on the same train.

As we stepped from the train, we were greeted by Nancy Lotti, Piehl's secretary, who told us that Claire Gaucher was a dancer at Barbara Zinkowsky's 780 Club, in New York, and that they were coming to Washington, in Ruth DuHamel's Jaguar. Ruth, by the way, is now the famous Mrs. Francis Cierpich.

Together we left for the party, only to run into a very tall gentleman, who was Lee Wakefield, present head of the Engineering Department at M. I. T. He told us that he had kept up his acquaintance with Robert Sleeper, the eminent President of Harvard College, and Judy Tucker, the popular Dean of Worcester State Teachers College.

Upon our arrival, we were greeted by Fred Foskett and Beverly Barnes. Fred, was Secretary of Agriculture, and Beverly was now a recording secretary of the American Poultry Association. Fred told us that after going with Beverly for twenty years, he finally decided they would be married.

I noticed an attractive looking couple across the hall and found out that it was Burt Griggs and Judith Baylies Griggs, the proud parents of two sets of twins. As I talked to them, I found that the nurse who helped deliver those twins was none other than our Phyllis Bombard.

Then, who should greet me, but David and Raymond Stevens, now partners in America's largest packing house. Together they were feeding about half the world. Standing by these two men was Sandra Colby, who told me that she had just opened an art school in New York.

Among those who were unable to attend the party were Richard Fregeau, who is making a career of service as he is a U.S. Marine; Pauline Gaudette, who is busy acting in a Hollywood studio; Ann Marie Walker, who is a stewardess on Northeastern Air Lines; and Rhoda Gray, who is a beloved missionary in Africa.

Therefore, after a delightful reunion, I left for home. As I traveled onward, I decided that I'd never forget this trip of 1977, where I had the opportunity to renew friendship with almost all of my 1957 classmates of Charlton High School.

I felt we were very fortunate to have almost all of the 1957 Class present.

Henry Davidson, Jr.

Last Will and Testament

- I, Beverly Barnes, leave, still asking questions.
- I, Judith Baylies, leave, as quietly as I came.
- I, Phyllis Bombard, leave all my clothes to Robert Hall.
- I, Robert Burns, leave my flirtatious ways to Billy Walker.
- I, Sandra Colby, leave my sense of humor to Alan Reid.
- I, Jean Cooper, leave my typing ability to Mary O'Grady.
- I, Henry Davidson, leave because Phyllis is.
- I, Ruth DuHamel, leave my height to little Iodine.
- I, Fred Foskett, leave to C. H. S. peace and quiet.
- I, Richard Fregeau, leave my ability to blush to Elton Galloway.
- I, Claire Gaucher, leave my incessant talking to Charley Boucher.
- I, Pauline Gaudette, leave because the rest of the Seniors are.
- I, Francis Gillespie, leave my false teeth to Paul Warren.
- I, Rhoda Gray, leave my curly hair to the "Toni" Company.
- I, Burton Griggs, leave my shyness to Willie Savoie.
- I, Nancy Lotti, leave my skill to handle finances to Alan Reiser.
- I, Robert Piehl, leave my farming technique to Wilrose Duquette.
- I, Everett Pike, leave my picture to all the girls who admire me.
- I, Donald Plante, leave a trail of broken hearts.
- I, James Russell, leave my ability to run the projector to Dennis Casey.
- I, Robert Sleeper, leave my executive ability to next year's president of the Student Council.
- I, Robert Stavers, leave my reserved ways to Wesley Stevens.
- I, David Stevens, leave reluctantly a certain Junior girl.
- I, Raymond Stevens, leave my quiet disposition to Dennis Sullivan.
- I, Charles Thompson, leave my athletic ability to my brother Donald.
- I, Judith Tucker, leave my athletic ability to Pamela Ewing.
- I, Lee Wakefield, leave my imagination to Richard Moffatt.
- I, Ann Walker, leave my ability to tell jokes to Gloria Piche.
- I, Barbara Zinkowsky, leave my ability to sell cards and gifts to any Junior.
- I, Ernest Thibaudeau, leave again.

"We leave the Juniors to head the rest."

"We leave the Sophomores to Strain and Stress."

"We leave the Freshmen in Distress."

We leave Mr. Ewing our gratitude for the help he has given us.

We leave Mr. Mitchell our thanks and peace of mind.

We leave Mrs. Fiske our deepest love and appreciation for all that she has done for us.

We leave Mrs. Hammond sincere thanks for helping us with our Junior Prom, Senior Reception, rings, and finances.

We leave Mr. Ball sad at losing four Senior Varsity basketball players.

We leave Mr. Kane successfully striving for his Washington fund.

We leave Mr. Jessen and Mr. Burns a winning J. V. team next year.

We leave Mrs. Bancroft a much quieter Home & Family Life class next year.

We leave Mr. Boudreau and his wife a thank you for chaperoning our class trip.

We leave Mr. Chambers a new building for his vocational agricultural shop.

We leave Mrs. Gast an undefeated girls' basketball team.

We leave Mrs. Glynn still efficiently drawing and painting.

We leave Mr. Perry still working on his railroad. Maybe when he gets it done, he will give us all a ride.

We leave Mr. Sullivan hoping that his first year of teaching was a happy one.

We leave Mrs. Healy a set of candelabras for her piano and a brother named George.

We leave Mrs. Madaus our respect, admiration, and sincere wishes for good luck.

We leave Miss Putnam with sincere thanks for our special graduation music.

Class Song

By

Ann Walker and Pauline Gaudette

So long to old school days.
We hate to depart.
We'll never forget them;
They'll stay in our heart.

Best wishes to teachers
And all classmates too.
We surely will miss you;
Hope you'll miss us too.

We leave all the Juniors
With hopes they succeed
In leading our high school
By doing good deeds.

Now, that were departing,
And saying, "Adieu,"
We leave you with one thought:
God bless all of you.
